II Corinthians 11:3 (KJV)

```
G
But I fear lest by any means
C                           G               D
As the serpent beguiled Eve though his subtilty
        G                   C
So your minds should be corrupted
            G       D          G
From the simplicity that is in Christ

    G                          C
The evil one still speaks so subtilty
G               D
2nd Corinthians 11, verse 3
      G                       C
Lord, please keep corruption far from me
           G          D           G
That I may follow you in simplicity

G
But I fear lest by any means
C                           G               D
As the serpent beguiled Eve though his subtilty
        G                   C
So your minds should be corrupted
            G       D          G       C   G D G
From the simplicity that is in Christ
```